Parenting Beyond 18 Support Group

While no parent stops being a parent when a child turns 18, those parents with neurodiverse children will likely be far more involved in directive parenting than those with neurotypical children. Yet, after the high school years, parents lose contact with other parents with similarly-challenged children, and thus lose a vital resource and community.

EvoLibri is proud to sponsor Parenting Beyond 18 for parents of neurodiverse children still in – and beyond – high school. The main goal of this group is to build a community of parents with similar challenges and needs, and to offer:

- ❖ A safe place to share the challenges and joys of raising neurodiverse adults
- ❖ The opportunity to build lasting family and peer relationships
- ❖ A place to discuss possibilities such as shared housing and other resources, respite care, and building community-based programs for our special children

When: Generally, the First Friday of each month, 7 pm (coincides with, and starts after Club Neuro – check Meetup.com for exact information)
PLEASE sign up at Meetup.com for current schedule and announcements
(see reverse for instructions)

Where: Meet at EvoLibri Consulting (719 Colorado Ave, PA) and then walk to a local restaurant or coffee house

Cost: The cost of your dinner or coffee drink!
